MUNICIPAL DISTRICT ANXIOUS TO KEEP DISTRICT NURSING SERVICE

MEANOOK—A delegation consisting of Reeve Aloisio and Councillors Breckenridge and Derko were appointed to interview the Minister of Health regarding the nurse at Colinton. At the December meeting of the council of the Municipal District of Athabasca, a discussion took place to determine ways and means of maintaining the present nursing service. It was suggested that the committee investigate with the Province the possibility of the Municipal District taking over the single nurse health unit that has been administered by the Athabasca School Division.

The December meeting was held on Thursday and Friday, December 13th and 14th, with Reeve Aloisio and Councillors Parsons, Breckenridge, Lynk, Rosychuk, Derko and LaPorte present. Reading of minutes of previous meeting and financial statement preceded the handling of new business.

Delegation

A delegation of ratepayers interviewed the council re: a road through 24 and 25-68-20-4. The matter was discussed by the council and W. Wolonciewicz and Mr. Horochowski. Mr. Rosychuk stated a road should be surveyed along the west side of the muskeg, through Sections 24, 25 and 36-68-20-4.

Expropriate for Road

Moved by Mr. Derko, we pay W. Nowrot for 1,490 yards of gravel, @ 5 cents per yard. Carried.

H. Lewitsky, Work

Moved by Reeve Aloisio that Mr. Derko make an investigation re: the work supposed to have been done by H. Lewitsky, in 1949, and report to council at the next meeting. Carried.

Old Athabasca Hospital

Moved by Reeve Aloisio we notify the Athabasca municipal hospital board that this council is willing to take over the old hospital building, and run it as an old folks home, provided that the building will be passed by the Inspector for such purpose, and also provided that satisfactory arrangements can be made with the Town of Athabasca. Conferences Seem Futile

The United Nations has accepted the proposal of some Middle East nations for a conference of the Big Four, over the controversial question of arms reduction, or disarmament. In ordinary diplomatic matters, in the past, this move would have a hopeful aspect, but in these days of conferences without end, in which only futility is reached, there seems to be little optimism found in the situation.

As long as the conferences include the representative of the Soviet Republics will there be any chance of the conferees arriving at a peaceful and practical solution of their problems? Surely the Western nations know by this time that Russia does not want a peaceful issue to come from all these meetings of statesmen!

Every conference held so far over disputed matters between Russia and the rest of the world, has ended in futility. Not even the United Nations itself has escaped this devastating evil opposition and futility. In every final decision on even the most vital questions, the Soviet veto has loomed as the last road block to progress. There isn't much hope or expectancy of disarmament agreement blossoming from this last Big Four Conference.

Doings At Medicine Hat

In Medicine Hat James E. Caldwell has invented a bicycle with wings, fore and aft, which flap, and which, in turn, lift the bicycle into the air. Thus, the modern world has its first flying bicycle.

In operation, the wings flap as the bicycle moves along, and though the engine rates only two horsepower, Mr. Caldwell has pulled himself five or ten feet up into the air, with a bird-like rhythm. The strangest thing about the contraption is that it uses gravity for most of its power. Caldwell says he studied the principles of bird flight for ten years before building the "Ornithopter." The wings reach out nine or ten feet from each side of the bicycle and are cloth-covered.

There is as yet no final agreement as to the importance of the new machine but the inventor claims that it represents a new scientific approach, which may prove of greater commercial value than atomic energy. He explains the principle as one in which the wing lifts the weight and the weight propels the wings. "This formula is the science of using air for a highway and of using gravity for most of the power on that highway," he says.

Liberals Plan Convention

It has been announced, from the Liberal party headquarters, that a party convention is being called to meet in Edmonton, on January 30 and 31. Efforts are being made to make this gathering one of the greatest importance.

The Alberta Liberal party has been slowly gaining strength in the last eight years and though progress has not been as great as was hoped, there has not been a recession or a slackening in interest in the province. The organizations in the constituencies have taken active measures to put their affairs in first class order. Candidates have been nominated in many of them, and there is a spirit of confidence in party officialdom, that the next trial of strength between Social Credit and the Liberalism of the historic party will reveal some very encouraging developments.

The political pendulum has swung to opposite poles more than once in Alberta, and the coming convention of the party is likely to give things a good start in the direction of victory at the next election.

Note and Comment

T. P. Devlin of Winnipeg, says there are 350,000 farms in Canada without tractors. This means that horses are still needed, and the demand for good animals should improve. Horses on Canadian farms last June numbered 1,505,200, a decline of 10.6 per cent below the figures for June, 1950.

The Bible Today

Stambaugh Champions Alberta

Valiant service has been performed by Senator J. W. Stambaugh in the senate debate on the troubled and complex business of the railway freight rates, recently. The senator, with commendable courage and ability, raised his voice in defence of objections by Alberta to the inequalities now continuing in the railway freights rates as between the eastern provinces, British Columbia and Alberta.

At one point he stressed the unequal rates by telling the senators that the rate 100 pounds of canned goods from Aylmer to Vancouver was $1.57 and the rate from Aylmer to Calgary or Edmonton $3.23 for 100 pounds of the same goods.

In reply to objections from Senator Reid of British Columbia, Mr. Stambaugh said: "I am at a loss to know why British Columbia should be opposed to Alberta getting a little break from these freight rates." He pointed out that proposed changes did not adversely affect either B.C. rates or those to Winnipeg, and he could not see why Alberta should be refused a small advantage when it did injury to nobody else.

It seems evident that, though Canada is a united country politically, there are those among the senators who think of the dominion in local, sectional terms, of the East and West and the Middle, all being opposed to each other. It is time the facts, as stated by Senator Stambaugh, should bring about a more equitable deal between the extremes and the middle of the country in the matter of freight rates and other matters. Confederation will never mean union until all parts of the country stand for equality of the whole.

Heroism Not Dead

The age of heroes has not passed into oblivion, as some dark souls have believed in recent years, and today the world is standing amazed and thrilled at a sea story of highest heroism and courage. A lone captain of a stricken vessel in mid-Atlantic, after ordering his crew and passengers to take to the lifeboats for safety, and thus assuring himself of their rescue, decided to remain alone on his vessel, thus maintaining the tradition of the sea that a captain must stay with his ship to the last.

For more than a week this brave seaman, Captain Hendrick Kurt Carlsen, has faced death and hardship on a ship with displaced cargo, laying over on her side and huge waves and the wind threatening to capsize her any moment. His is a lonely figure that will stand beside the world's greatest heroes always. As long as the sagas of the sea are told, the story of his brave and sacrificial watch on the wrecked ship will be repeated to future generations.

Everyday Living

SELF IMPOSED HANDICAPS

Don't be foolish—the tendency of tobacco is to destroy. The doctor may say it was typhoid. The fact is, it was typhoid made fatal by a tobacco weakened heart. Another man succumbs to nervous prostration—because tobacco had shot his nerves to pieces. Another gave up the ghost because tobacco had ruined his stomach.

The late Thomas A. Edison said—"Cigarette smoke has a violent action on the nerve centres, producing a degeneration of the cells of the brain. No man, boy or girl who smokes cigarettes can work in my laboratories. In my opinion there are enough degenerates in the world without manufacturing more by means of cigarettes."

"No boy or girl can tie a stone about their neck and expect to win in the swift current of modern life."

"Might as well put sand in your motor as poison in your system. It will wreck the works."

A. L. Warner, M.D., tobacco, liquor and dope specialist, 58 years, 13½ years in two of the largest hospitals in the world, says—"We are breeding a race of tobacco degenerates; juvenile crime, vice and degeneracy steadily increases with increasing use of tobacco. The average age of crime has come down in 16 years from age 28 to 19. Worst juvenile criminals (cigarette smokers) are usually 16 to 19. The people of the United States smoked nearly four billion cigarettes last year and paid for tobacco and smokers' supplies more than the combined cost of the public schools and churches."

HORSE LOVERS OPPOSE ROUND-UP

CRANBROOK, B.C. — British Columbia's band of wild horses was nearing the end of the trail as plans went ahead for the seventh annual "clean-up" drive of mustangs in the East Kootenay mountain range.

Cranbrook Farmers' Institute unanimously endorsed closure of the public range between Feb. 15 and April 15 to permit horse-hunting with big game rifles instead of the traditional lariat.

Protests of horse-lovers who would preserve the last home on the range for the province's wild horses were brushed aside at recent meetings here.

The issue flared up at the close of the roundup last year in which about 100 of the free-roaming band of mustangs were killed. Some 300 horses, most runty and nondescript still survive after six years of slaughter in which an estimated 2,500 horses have been exterminated to make way for beef cattle.

Riding clubs and horse-breeders organizations submitted a petition to Premier Byron Johnson at the close of last year's drive and charged "wanton cruelty."

Grazing Commissioner W. C. Pendray reported to Cranbrook farmers and ranchers that 390 signatures were affixed to the petition protesting the annual drives. Under questioning by the farmers, Pendray said that names of signers had been screened and showed that "only 60 had any direct knowledge or interest in the matter."

The farmers' Institute decided that conservation of rangeland during the early spring season was essential for continuation of the beef industry.

However, the farmers recommended that horses evading the annual roundup be shot only by Forest Service grazing lands appointees. Authorized agents receive $5 for each pair of horse ears they turn in. Stallions can be shot by anyone who secures a government agent's permit.

During the roundup periods, farmers are permitted to market the carcasses of the horses they shoot.

NORTHERN SURVEY PARTIES BEGIN WINTER'S WORK

Parties surveying the Alberta-Northwest Territories and the Alberta-British Columbia boundaries expect to complete all but 126 miles of Alberta's boundaries next spring.

Two parties set out early this month to continue their work of plotting the boundary through muskies and forests of the north

SURVEY TO COVER 97 MILES

The crew surveying the Alberta-Northwest Territories boundary will work out from Indian Cabins on the Mackenzie highway. Headed by C. B. C. Donnelly, they plan to survey 97 miles of wilderness from the Mackenzie Highway west to the corner of the province.

Last year the party surveyed about 90 miles of boundary east of the highway. Another 30 miles of boundary west of Fort Smith was surveyed in 1951. If the 1951-1952 program is carried out successfully, it will leave 65 miles of boundary to be surveyed between the 1950 and 1951 lines and 60 miles from Fort Smith to the north-east corner of Alberta. These two sections totalling 125 miles are expected to be completed in the winter of 1952-1953.

The Alberta - British Columbia survey party, headed by W. N. Pappoe, expects to complete 85 miles of boundary from Hay River to the north-west corner of the province. This will complete a west surveyed line from the International Boundary to the Northwest Territories boundary.

MUSKEG AND HEAVY TIMBER

Last winter the team was hampered with the soft muskeg caused when sulphur water would not allow the ground to freeze. The area north of Hay River is less swampy but is expected to offer more resistance in the way of heavy timber. The Alberta-British Columbia team will work out from Hay Lake and Upper Hay Post.

The team surveying the northern boundary will use horses and sleighs for travelling and have taken enough food and equipment to be self-sufficient until spring. Parties have been sent in several weeks in advance to cache supplies of hay and animal feed for their horses. The west boundary team will use horses exclusively and hope to have supplies dropped to them by air during the winter.

Much interest has been displayed in these surveys, particularly by oil companies who are carrying on investigations in the unsurveyed areas.

TWELVE-FOOT PATH

The survey teams mark the boundary line by cutting a path which will be six feet wide at the skyline. This means it is necessary to cut a 12-foot path on the ground. Then, at about 1½-mile intervals, boundary monuments are erected.

Where it is possible to find a firm foundation, concrete monuments are laid, while in other areas stone cairns are erected. These monuments and cairns have a metal post in the centre and each is identified by a numbered brass cap.

Those on the Alberta-British Columbia boundary are inscribed: "B.C./Alta." The Alberta-Northwest Territories markers are inscribed: "N.W.T.-Alta."

The surveying of the Alberta-Northwest Territories boundary is a joint effort of the Governments of Alberta and Canada, while cost of surveying the Alberta-British Columbia boundary is divided evenly among Alberta, B.C. and the Government of Canada.

St. Michael U of A Student Wins Fellowship Award

The University of Alberta today announced the award of two Graduate Fellowships in Civil Engineering tenable during the current academic session.

Mr. E. J. Klohn of 9922, 89 Ave., Edmonton, was awarded a Fellowship offered by the Brunner, Mond Canada Sales Limited of Montreal.

Mr. Klohn, who was born in Winnipeg, graduated from the University of Alberta in May, 1951, with first-class standing in Civil Engineering, receiving the degree of Bachelor of Science with distinction.

Mr. Peter Yurkiw, of St. Michael, Alberta, now residing at 7702, 81 Ave., Edmonton, was awarded the Lignosol Fellowship offered by the Northwestern Paper Products Limited of Quebec City. Mr. Yurkiw will study the effect of waste sulphite liquor on soil characteristics, particularly as it affects frost heaving in the road beds of railroads.

Prior to entering the University of Alberta in September, 1946, Mr. Yurkiw had served for 55 months in the Canadian Army, three and a half years of which were spent overseas. The Lignosol Fellowship won by Mr. Yurkiw is in the amount of $1400, with a further grant for special equipment.

Safe Driving Lectures Offered To High Schools

The cause of highway safety will be promoted through the use of a new white panel truck which went into operation recently as the provincial government's first highway safety education unit.

The unit is sponsored by the Motor Vehicle Branch of the Provincial Secretary's Department and Inspector P. J. Rowan is in charge of the unit.

Through sound films and lectures, Mr. Rowan will try to educate teen agers and adults in safe driving. Services of the unit are available to any school with students at or near the legal driving age of 16 as well as any groups or organizations interested in highway safety.

Although primarily an educational service, the truck and its driver will be ready to assist any motorist in trouble on the highways. It will be equipped with a first aid kit, tow chain, wrecking bar, fire-fighting equipment, a stretcher and flares.

Inspector Rowan also is authorized to arrest any driver for traffic violations and, on his tours around Alberta, will enforce the Vehicles and Highway Traffic Act.

Anyone wishing to use the services of the highway safety education unit can apply to the Motor Vehicle Branch at the Administration Building, Edmonton.

Mr. Dyke reported to the annual meeting of the organization, held in Regina, that he felt hog prices for prairie swine raisers, should be as good as last year during 1952.

ALBERTA FARMERS GAIN $12,000,000 IN 20c PRICE BOOST ON 1951 WHEAT

Poor harvest conditions in various parts of the Province have greatly reduced the deliveries of 1951 wheat crop. But those farmers who have made deliveries of their crop will benefit by an added price of 20c per bushel on all their 1951-52 delivered wheat.

This was announced in Ottawa Saturday of last week. It means that Alberta farmers will benefit by over $12 million in initial wheat price payments. Hon. C. D. Howe announced that the Wheat Board's initial price to producer basis Fort William, Port Arthur and Vancouver will be $1.60 per bushel No. 1 Northern instead of $1.40. This increase of 20c per bushel applies to all grades of wheat sold to the Wheat Board.

Starting March 1st the Wheat Board will begin mailing checks to producers for deliveries made by that time, to adjust the difference in what has already been paid them. It is estimated that over $50,000,000 extra will go into the pockets of Western farmers. This will pay the producer the full amount at the new initial price, including the 20c increase.

The initial price is the amount the farmer receives when he delivers his wheat to the Canadian Wheat Board, the crown agency which acts as salesman for prairie wheat producers. If the board shows a profit in sales, it distributes this in the form of final payments to farmers at the end of the crop year.

Streets Of Lorado— Lac la Biche Style

As I went out in the streets of La Biche,
As I went out in La Biche one day,
I spied first one dog and then yet another
And twenty-three more I passed on my way.

There were big dogs and small dogs and even more dogs
Than I could count as I walked down the street;
There were farm dogs and Lap dogs and stray dogs and mon-grels,
And twenty-three dogs for each person I'd meet.

Now my story's not long and my story is simple,
There's just one suggestion that's easy to catch:
Our name for this town does not seem to suit it—
The suggestion—to change, and call it Dogpatch.

George Spence, left, Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton are two Canadians on International Joint commission.

In a historical meeting in Washington, D.C., Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent and President Truman agreed on proposal which calls for joint U.S.-Canadian development of the hydro-electric resources at the international rapids section near Cornwall, Ont. As now proposed, the undertaking would call for a channel that would admit ocean-going ships up to the head of the lakes, and also would develop some 2,200,000 horsepower of hydro-electric energy in the International rapids sections of the St. Lawrence river. The navigation scheme would cost the federal government some $300,000,000 beyond what it now has put into canal and channel system, assuming it were to bear the whole burden. The 2,200,000-horsepower development to be handled jointly by the province of Ontario and the state of New York would cost each about $200,000,000. Ontario and New York have been ready to go ahead with this, but up until recently President Truman has been opposed to letting New York handle the seaway end, holding out for a joint Canadian-U.S. project all the way through.

Resident Agriculturist May Be Appointed To District

LAC LA BICHE—The meeting of the farmers of the Lac la Biche area, held in the Aurora Theatre, Thursday afternoon, January 24, under the sponsorship of the Plamondon Agricultural Society to hear Mr. F. Newcome, Director of Extension Services of the Department of Agriculture, was very well attended and strongly evidenced the growing interest of the farmers in the area for the need of extension of agricultural services. Besides Mr. Newcome, the meeting was addressed by Mr. George Godel, District Agriculturist of the Athabasca District and by the Home Economist of the Athabasca-Westlock District.

Mr. Newcome's address dealt largely with matters pertaining to the probable appointment of a resident District Agriculturist in the District. He stressed the point that the Department, in making these appointments, only did so if they were convinced that sufficient interest in the extension of services was shown. The need or the demand for them, must arise from the farmers themselves. Another important point he stressed was that a D.A. would not work for the farmer but would most certainly work with him—giving him at all times the benefit of his advice and technical experience. He strongly stressed the fact, that if a District Agriculturist were appointed, his work would only be a success if all the farmers in the district made full use of his services.

Mr. Godel spoke on matters pertaining to the formation of an enlarged district Agricultural Society—drawing for example on the success of the Athabasca and District Agricultural Society. In the matter of projects put on through the district—seed fairs, stock shows, and so on, he pointed out that the greatest success could be obtained by decentralizing the activities.

The district home economist gave a short address to the ladies present on matters pertinent to her branch of the Agricultural Services.

A general question and discussion period followed, wherein Mr. Newcome and Mr. Godel answered questions and discussed problems at length. In the matter of formation of a larger and district-covering society, it was suggested that the district be divided into zones, with each zone having representation on the central board of the society. This suggestion was acted upon and the necessary tentative arrangements made for zoning the district. Though Mr. Newcome could not give any definite word as to the appointment of a resident agriculturist, it was felt that the apparent interest shown by the big attendance on a cold day would be sufficient to show that the farmers genuinely wished the extension of the service, and it was hoped that the appointment would not be long delayed.

LETTERS TO LOUISA

Dear Louisa:

My mother and I have been living together since my father died about ten years ago. I gave up my job in another city and came home to take one that did not pay as much but would let me live with her. Just recently my brother and his wife have been transferred to our city and mother asked them to stay with us as we have plenty of room.

This is all very well except for the fact that it gives me so much work to do. Dorothy chats with mother while I fix dinner until Bob comes in. Then she bustles around and gives him the impression that we have been working together. They usually go out after dinner and leave me with the cleaning up. This is bad enough but the worst part of it all is that Bob thinks Dorothy is working too hard and never misses an opportunity of telling me how smart she is and that he has to watch out for her and keep her from doing more than her share everywhere he goes.

When I suggested that she had been doing very little since she came to us he gave me a cold stare and just walked away.

What would you do in such a situation?

ANNIE W.

Answer:

Your sister-in-law is evidently one of those women who can make her husband believe anything by a combination of innuendo and white lies. They twist words and situations around to suit themselves and the truth isn't in them. There is no use in trying to set your brother straight as he is completely blind but you could put the facts before your mother. Just tell her that unless she can get Dorothy to do her part of the work you will go back to your old job and let her take over.

LOUISA.

Dear Louisa:

My husband died a month ago and my two children want me to sell my house and live with each one six months of the year. I love my children and my in-laws but I am afraid I will be dissatisfied as I have lived in this place for many years.

The children do not like for me to live alone. I am comfortably well off. What do you think I should do? I am undecided.

GRANDMOTHER.

Answer:

Don't sell your house. If you wish, try living with the children for a few months or a year and see how the plan works. I personally think you may be glad to have your own place to come back to.

On the other hand, if you do find living with the children pleasant, and they are pleased to have you, the house can be sold later on. If it is a large dwelling, you may divide it, renting out part of it to congenial people and keeping a small apartment for yourself.

It is nice to have a place of your own to come back to, be it ever so small.

LOUISA.

Defence-in-Depth Tactics

When a stray cat wandered into the Whittier school's first grade room at Seattle, Teacher Mary Pelan put it up to the class aquarium. The cat attempted to catch the goldfish through the glass for several hours. Then, when class was almost out, the kitty discovered an approach could be made from above. The cat failed to make a catch, however, because of the fishes' defence-in-depth tactics.

How He Knew

A man fell into a coma and it was several days before he awoke. Later he spoke of his experience to a party of friends.

"Oh, yes," the young man said in reply to a question. "I knew all the time what was going on, and I also knew that I wasn't dead, because my feet were cold and I was hungry."

"I see," said one of his friends, thoughtfully; "but how did that make you think you were still alive?"

"Well," answered the man, "I knew that if I were in Heaven I wouldn't be hungry, and that if I were anywhere else my feet wouldn't be cold."

Up To Last Man

A large Paris hotel requires that after midnight all guests give their names to the doorkeeper. One night a Spanish nobleman entered and announced proudly: "Senor de Gonzales de Veraqua y Miraflore y Martinez y . . ."

"Okay," grumbled the doorkeeper, "let the last one in close the door."

Some Time Ago

"When we were first married you were only too glad to wipe the dishes."

"I know, but that was when we had only two dishes."

Really Lazy

"Rastus, your dog seems to be in pain."

"No suh, he ain't in pain. He's just lazy."

"But surely he must be suffering or he wouldn't howl like that."

"Jes' plumb laziness, jes' laziness; he's sittin' on a thistle."

Do You Get It?

"How did Macpherson cure his stammer?"

"Oh, he put through a long-distance telephone call to New York."

Nearly $200,000 Paid Out Of Accident Claims Fund

Total payments out of the Unsatisfied Judgment Fund from April to Dec. 31, 1951, were $198,357, E. R. Hughes, Deputy Provincial Secretary, announced today. Collections for the fund, for which each operator of a motor vehicle in Alberta is assessed $1 annually, totalled $242,931.

A breakdown of payments from the fund showed that hospital and medical payments totalled $25,751; judgments and costs, $128,535; and miscellaneous, $44,070.

The Unsatisfied Judgment Fund exists to compensate persons injured in accidents in which motor vehicles are involved and payments are made wherever a person found responsible by the court for damages is unable to pay the amount of the judgment.

Five Alberta Centres Gain Village Status

The department of municipal affairs announced establishment of five new villages and one new municipal district in Alberta.

Centres gaining village status are Caroline, Girouxville, Manning, Rosemary and Warspite. Nominations for council members in these centres were held Jan. 14 and elections Jan. 28, with first council meeting planned for early February.

The new municipal district, No. 130, is Fillion in the Little Smoky River Area in northwest Alberta. Spotlight on Alberta—AEN

Rats Invade Alberta

Special action is necessary in order to keep rats out of Alberta, according to A. M. Wilson, Alberta field crops commissioner. Mr. Wilson left Edmonton recently to attend a special rat control meeting in Hanna. It was reported that 15 rats had been seen in the east-central part of the province, in a region west of the border town of Alsask, Sask.

Photos Taken And Developed In Two Minutes

E. Beke, office manager of Egg Lake Coal Mine has an interesting hobby that at times is quite profitable. Getting into the hobby is expensive, though, with equipment worth hundreds of dollars.

Mr. Beke has a flash camera that takes and develops pictures on the spot. He carries a wet cell battery pack that operates a 110 volt flash bulb. He can take flash pictures and develop them within two minutes anywhere. The hobby is profitable too, when used at dances and other public and private affairs. Couples dancing on the floor can have a close up, candid camera picture delivered in 120 seconds for only $1.00.

Trucks Too, Get Safety Stickers

Some Alberta truckers have suggested that the annual compulsory safety testing program now in effect for passenger cars, be extended to cover trucks.

According to Provincial Secretary C. E. Gerhart, some trucks have already received their stickers.

WOLVES CAUSING DAMAGE

It was drawn to the attention of the Provincial Government recently by the two farm groups, FUA and AFU, that wolves are causing great damage to livestock in farming and ranching districts. It was requested that a bounty of $100 a head be paid on timber wolves.
